QUEENS MUSEUM OF ART

FIND
The Panorama of the City of New York, 1964, 1992, 2007

COOL FACT: The Panorama is a miniature model of all of NYC. It took more than 100 people 3 years to create it!

DURING YOUR VISIT
Look closely at this model of New York City! Can you find:

Act it out!
Can you make a tall skyscraper?
Work with a partner to make bridge!

DO-AT-HOME:
MAKE YOUR OWN BUILDING!

Ask your child to imagine that the box is a building. Perhaps it’s a school, a home, or a firehouse.

Help your child cut shapes out of paper to make doors and windows for your building. Have them glue the shapes to the box and draw people in the windows.

Cutting with scissors is a great way for your child to develop their coordination skills. Help them practice! Hold the paper while he or she uses children’s scissors to cut.

You’ll need:
- An empty cereal box
- Scraps of paper
- Glue
- Markers or pens
- Children’s scissors
