sanesha, Pre-Angkor period, 2nd half of 7th u tesy of The Metropolitan Museum of Art Go to the second floor and find the Chinese garden called the Astor Court. Face the garden and turn right. Walk until you get to the Jain Temple ceiling. Turn left and walk straight ahead. Keep walking straight until you go into a second gallery. The object is there, on your left-hand side.

Now, Explore!

DURING YOUR VISIT:

- Describe what you see. Which body parts look human? Which parts look like an animal?
- Check out the many other Ganeshas in these galleries! How many can you find? How are they the same? How are they different?
- This is a god who is believed to take away problems. Why is an elephant a good choice for this god?

Before and After Your Visit:

- Encourage your child to role-play, to pretend he or she is Ganesha. How would you move if you had the head of an elephant and the body of a person? What would you do with your long trunk or large ears?
- With your child, imagine you could become part animal/part human. What animal parts would each of you choose? Why? Have your child draw a picture or tell a story about what it would be like to be part animal.
